Employment Opportunity for Chiropractor Lydian Center for Innovative Health Care

About The Lydian Center:

The Lydian Center for Innovative Health Care is a group of seasoned practitioners pursuing new treatment techniques at the cutting edge of health care, education and human development. As a group we treat a broad range of conditions including: chronic pain and illness, structural instability (poor coordination, gross and fine motor skills), nutritional deficiencies, psycho-emotional trauma, developmental delays, sensory integration and learning problems. Our team is comprised of Chiropractors, Homeopaths, Energy Kinesiologists, Psychotherapists, a Craniosacral Therapist, and a Naturopath.

This is a unique and truly exciting opportunity for the right chiropractor. Many of the practitioners at the Lydian Center have international reputations, have published books and scholarly articles, and as a group attract a wide array of interesting, intellectually stimulating cases. For more information on the Lydian Center, please visit www.lydiancenter.com

Lydian Chiropractic:

Lydian Chiropractic is the chiropractic practice housed at the Lydian Center. We currently employ three doctors and are seeking to expand to a total of four. We are a cash-only practice with a 3-month waiting list for new patients. We have a far-reaching reputation in the Boston area, greater New England and even internationally and treat many of the most challenging musculoskeletal and neurological cases. We see patients already familiar with chiropractic as well as many patients new to chiropractic who have been referred by a healthcare or medical professional. Our patient base is highly educated and highly motivated. In addition to adults, we see families with a wide variety of special needs children (PDD NOS, high functioning Asperger's, ADD, developmental delays, learning disabilities, attachment disorder, etc.). Our success is due in large part to our remarkably effective, cutting edge chiropractic technique: Axial Stability Method (ASM).

Position Summary:

Training Period (3-4 months):

Axial Stability Method (ASM) is the only chiropractic technique practiced at the Lydian Center. It is a combination of AK, SOT, Activator Methods and additional complex energy kinesiology techniques. This is an entirely non-force technique. We do no manual manipulations. A training period of 3-4 months is expected for a chiropractor already familiar with AK, SOT, and Activator Methods. There is no expectation that the successful candidate will be familiar with the specialized energy kinesiology techniques. Learning ASM involves a fairly steep learning curve and requires a strong commitment on the part of the candidate to acquire new skills and information rapidly.

Post Training Period:

The initial training period will be followed by close supervision for as long as needed. An experienced ASM chiropractor will always be available for mentorship and consultation. Once completely trained, the successful candidate will work independently with patients in the context of our integrated team of practitioners at the Lydian Center. This collaboration among practitioners supports our on-going work of neuro-integration and overall wellness in patients. Patients will consist of children and adults with chronic pain and illness, developmental delays and learning difficulties, as well as a variety of other neurological disorders (e.g. brain trauma and seizure disorders).

Given the considerable investment in training time, once the 60-day probationary period has passed, Lydian Chiropractic will expect to sign a 3-year contract with the successful candidate.

Professional Skills and Qualifications:

In addition to a solid understanding of anatomy/neurology/physiology and patient management, additional specialized skills will be needed. The following are the skills necessary to perform the work the position requires. We understand however that not all promising candidates will possess all of the skills/knowledge/experience listed below. Once hired, the ideal candidate will be prepared to apply themselves rigorously to fill any gaps in their current knowledge base.

- Curiosity and interest in learning and practicing ASM
- Academic excellence, rigorous linear thinking combined with well-developed kinesthetic abilities
- Prior experience with non-force techniques, especially SOT, Activator and AK
- Accurate muscle monitoring (AK)
- Basic understanding of kinesiology principles (pause lock, use of hand modes)
- Basic knowledge of Energetic Sciences (Acupuncture/Meridian and Chakra systems)
- Experience working with children
- Understanding of psychology, parent/child relationships, etc.
- Motivation and leadership skills
- Excellent communication/interpersonal skills and boundaries
- Emotional maturity
- Prior background in psychology, education, early childhood development a plus

We are very open to training new graduates provided they have sufficient life experience/emotional development to meet the expectations of our sophisticated patient base. Older applicants are particularly welcome, as well as chiropractors who have had other previous life experiences: parents, teachers, artists, self-employed people, etc.
